

WSU 78th Street Master Plan Project

Community input sought on uses for 78th Street site

Public open house: Wednesday, August 25th 7:30 to 9:00 pm
Gaiser Middle School Cafeteria
3000 NE 99th Street

At this meeting the public can view and comment on the master plan alternatives. Attendees will be asked what they like about the alternatives and for suggestions on how the alternatives could be designed differently.

Project summary

As you drive down NE 78th Street, businesses and shopping centers flash past the corner of your eye. They yield for just a moment to a large open space with a dignified old building backed against a green hillside. While the building and setting may seem out of place today, the WSU 78th Street Research and Extension Unit has been a local institution for longer than most of us have been around Clark County, and the site is transitioning to a new use that will serve the community just as well in the future as it did in the past. The site's owners, Washington State University (WSU) and Clark County, are partnering to create a Master Plan to give the site new life in a different form.

Public participation will be critical to the success of the project. Input will be sought throughout the process of assessing the plan alternatives and refining them to a single recommended alternative.
